2. Project Details

Project Outline

Using the space below, please provide a short outline of the project, explaining the purpose and objectives of the research and a summary of the project methodology. The outline should be c. 250 words and written in plain English that is free from jargon.

The purpose of this project is to explore the relationship between clothing, performance, and behaviour. The project seeks to generate and explore answers to the research question 'do we use clothing as a costume?', as well as to potentially bring about more question to ponder. Those who contribute to/participant in the project will be family members and friends. I will 'recruit' participants by contacting said family members and friends via social media, text, telephone, email, etc. They will be asked to participant in a one-to-one interview with me, and to have photographs taken of them, alongside myself, in their favourite outfit, their home clothes, and their work clothes. Interviews will take place in the participants' bedrooms to convey an intimacy between them and the photographs. Interview questions will be based on participants' clothing, the reason behind their style, etc.

NB: submitted with this form is the Interview Layout/Questions Sheet (Appendix III).

4. Confidentiality and Anonymity

I have read and understand the University's guidelines on data protection :	YES
Will this project generate personal data? All information relating to living individuals is deemed to be personal data, including names, contact details and any answers to questions. If your project involves human participants it almost certainly generates personal data.	YES
If personal data will be gathered during this project, describe the arrangements for disposing of this data and specify who will have access to		_
All data will be stored (digitally) on my password-protected laptop, in a file situated under four linked folders. My laptop remains about my person at all times when out; however, the fact that my laptop is password-protected will ensure the security of the data I will gather. Data may be viewed by the project Supervisor but will be accessible to myself only. Any and all deleted data will go straight to the 'Trash' folder, which will then be emptied and permanently erased on or before 1st August 2018.
The Participant Information Sheet (Appendix I, below) describes arrangements for storing and destroying data	YES

6. Other issues

Are there any other ethical issues that have not been addressed which you would wish to bring to the attention of the Committee and/or the University Research Ethics Committee?

Although the proposed research does not present any potential risks, greater than those encountered in day-to-day life, to participants/subjects and researchers/investigators, it should be noted that research will involve one-to-one interviews with participants. However, any risk here will be overcome, as the participants' relationship to myself (the researcher) are that of family relations and friends; hence, participants and researcher will pose no risk to each other, due to there being a rapport/level of trust between them.

Project Outline & Role of Participant:

Clothing, considered to be a form of nonverbal behaviour, is an extremely large part of our lives. Whether we mean to or not, we consider it on some level every single day. In this project, the Researcher will be exploring the relationship between clothing, performance, and behaviour by asking the question: do we use clothing as a costume?

If the Participant consents to taking part in this project, their role will be to supply data for a case study for the Researcher to make reference to in their research. Said data supplied by the Participant will be in the form of:

- 1. a one-to-one interview, with audio to be recorded;
- 2. and a photoshoot.

The interview will consist of asking questions to do with the Participant's clothing, the reason behind their style, etc. The photoshoot will require the Participant and the Researcher to both wear the Participant's favourite outfit, their home clothes, and their work clothes – taking it in turns to wear each one – in the same image. The Researcher will require use of the Participant's bedroom for the interview and photoshoot. In addition, the Researcher will need access to the Participant's clothes in order to wear them herself (this includes and is limited to the Participant's favourite outfit, their home clothes, and their work clothes).

This research project seeks to generate and explore answers to the main research question: 'Do we use clothing as a costume?', as well as to potentially bring about more questions to ponder. The Participant's data will be used as a primary research source for both the written aspect of the research – to be in the form of a booklet – and for the exhibition piece. Said data will be at the forefront of the research, to be used as the main content. The exhibition piece itself will be a physical portrayal of the research carried out to answer the main research question.

The Participant's data from their interviews and photoshoots will be stored on the Researcher's password-protected laptop, in a file situated under four linked folders. Any and all deleted data will go straight to the 'Trash' folder, which will then be emptied and permanently erased. Data may be viewed by the project Supervisor (see below) but will be accessible to the Researcher only.

The overall methodology of the project involves carrying out primary research by conducting one-to-one interviews and performing photoshoots alongside Participants. For full details of the methodology, please consult the Researcher's Proposal.

Participants may withdraw from the project at any time up until project completion on 14th May 2018. Please contact the Researcher using the details above should you have any questions in relation to the project and/or your contribution.

Appendix III: INTERVIEW LAYOUT/QUESTIONS SHEET

Please could you state your name and age. Tell me a little about yourself – where are you from? Do you work/have a job? (If yes, prompt a brief explanation.) Would you say that you and/or your style fit into a category/stereotype? What's the inspiration behind your style? Has your cultural background had an influence on the way you dress? Does money/cost have an impact on what clothes you buy? Your favourite outfit, your home clothes, and your work clothes – are any of these a visible representation of who you are? Again, your favourite outfit, your home clothes, and your work clothes – are any of these a visible representation of your behaviour in the situation(s)/place(s)/context(s) in which you wear them? Do you ever feel that you are putting on a performance when wearing said clothes? Are there any situations and/or events that you feel you put a costume on for? (For example, at a wedding/theatre/family members' house/night club?) If yes, would you wear said clothes/outfit anywhere else? With regard to dressing formally or to suit a situation/event, do you feel that it is important to do so? I.e. why is it important to wear smart clothes to a job interview? "I decide on what to wear based on my mood." Do you agree with this statement? "What I wear determines my mood for the time I'm wearing that outfit." Do you agree with this statement? What do each of these outfits express about you? (Favourite, home, work.)
